High quality design. Medical grade engineering. 24 hour support. The experts at Innovative Software Solutions know quality and use their expertise to deliver world class custom software applications.

Our team of experienced engineers and designers stand in contrast to the here today, gone tomorrow startups that promise much but deliver vaporware and immature code.

We take the time to understand your business goals.

Then we iteratively design and develop the infrastructure, data, and interfaces you need to meet them. We commit to be your partner through certification, launch, and improvement cycles.

ISS engineers have deep experience developing solutions in numerous industries, including aerospace and manufacturing. But our core offerings include:

- ✓ Custom Healthcare Applications – Use our expertise in FDA Clearance and HIPAA Compliance to produce next generation software tools.
- ✓ Prototype and Concept Design – Visualize your concept through prototypes.
- ✓ Partnership and Outsourcing – Supplement your dev team with our experts.

“The applications produced by ISS are high quality, error free, and well documented. ISS takes a team approach to development with frequent communication with the marketing team to ensure that the product not only meets the written requirements but fits the customer’s needs perfectly. This kind of insight is unusual and highly valued here at Medical Decision Network.”

Innovative Software Solutions

Custom Healthcare Applications – From precision medicine products like the Insulin Therapy Glucose management app, to intelligent schedules for hospital administrative staff, ISS has built a variety of products to improve the lives of patients and make running hospitals easier. We have extensive experience in FDA Clearance and HIPAA Compliance procedures, and can successfully navigate all levels of certification to ensure your application deploys safely and fully compliant.

Prototype and Concept Design – Over the years, ISS has helped launch dozens of new products. We offer a low initial cost package that allows entrepreneurs to visualize the interfaces for their ideas. These visuals, along with a marketing website to promote them, allow you to make a connection with potential investors and take your idea to the next business level. We then stick with you to turn the prototype into an application that grows and scales with your new business.

Partnership and Outsourcing – You may have your own in house design or development team. But sometimes that next module, that new product, or that redesign is just too much work for the team. ISS offers a complete package that includes project management, development, quality assurance, installation, and 24 hour support . We utilize the knowledge we have acquired over the past decade to quickly transition the developed product back over to your team when needed.
